Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(b) the invention was patented or described in a printed publication in this or a foreign country or in public use or on sale in this country, more than one year prior to the date of application for patent in the United States.

Claims 1-10 and 15-18 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being anticipated by Tsumura et al., U.S. Patent # 5,623,030. Tsumura discloses an interpenetrating network-forming composition comprising two sets of crosslinking materials that form an IPN when crosslinked in the presence of one another. Of particular relevance to the claimed invention are the combinations of compounds (B) and (C). Compound (B) is a compound bearing at least two SiH groups per molecule and is embodied by the materials outlined at the bottom of column 4 and in column 5. Compound (C) is a compound bearing at least two vinylsilyl groups per molecule and is embodied by the materials outlined in column 6 and the top of column 7. The skilled artisan will appreciate that any of the specific compounds (B) can be combined with any of the specific compounds (C). Moreover, as examples of compounds (B) and (C), there are mentioned cyclic siloxanes bearing hydrosilyl groups and vinylsilyl groups respectively. There are also mentioned as examples of compounds (B) and (C) aromatic compounds having hydrosilyl- and vinylsilyl groups respectively attached directly to a benzene ring. Platinum-based catalysts are combined with a mixture of (B) and (C) to promote a hydrosilylation reaction between them (column 8, lines 17-29).

Art Unit: 1712

As for claims 15 and 16, it is stated in column 8, lines 13-16 that the preferred ratio of Si-H groups to vinylsilyl groups is between 0.5 and 5, more preferably 0.8 and 2.

Claims 1-5, 15, and 17 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being anticipated by an abstract of an article entitled "Synthesis and some Properties of Poly[(phenylenesilcarbo)organocyclosiloxanes]" published in Vysokomolekulyarnye Soedineniya, Seriya A (1993), 35(5), pp 475-480. This reference discloses the preparation of polymers by hydrosilylating 1,3- or 1,5-divinylorganocyclotetrasiloxane with 1,4-bis(dimethylsilyl)benzene in the presence of chloroplatinic acid.

Allowable Subject Matter

Claims 11-14 are objected to as being dependent upon a rejected base claim, but would be allowable if rewritten in independent form including all of the limitations of the base claim and any intervening claims. Tsumura discloses adding an alkoxy-functionalized silsesquioxane to the composition containing (B), (C), and a hydrosilylation catalyst. There is no obvious reason as to why one of ordinary skill would have been motivated to replace the silsesquioxane taught therein with an organosilicon resin having hydride or alkenyl groups
